VERNON KNIGHTS BARELY LOSE THIRD PLACE IN DRILL

Local Team Scores Eighty-four Points Out Of Possible One Hundred—Competition Spirited—Grand Commander And Marshal Tendered Elaborate Reception Upon Arrival.

Barely nosed out of third place in competition with Knights Templar from seven Texas cities, the drill team representing Vernon Commandery 33 yesterday was awarded fourth honors in Fort Worth with 84 points out of a possible 100 to be scored. San Antonio won the beautiful loving cup offered for first place with a total of 96.8 points. Fort Worth was second with 96 points flat, and Waco and Dallas Commanderies were tied for third place, Vernon lacked only three-fourths of one point having the same score as Waco and Dallas.

The team of Dallas Commandery 6 was first on the field, Waco appeared second, Amersced Commandery of Dallas, third, Wichita Falls, fourth, Fort Worth fifth, Vernon sixth and San Antonio last. Judges were Maj. Sam Inman McCants, First Infantry, Camp Travis; Capt. A. L. Tuttle, infantry officer assigned to duty at A. and M. College, and Capt. Calvin S. Richards, Fourth Field Artillery, Camp Stanley.

Fifteen Minute Drills

Drill time was in fifteen minute periods, with a cornetist from the band sounding the calls. Decision of the judges was quickly given in the first two places, and shortly after in the case of third.

The drill was held at the coliseum in Fort Worth, starting at 2 p. m. yesterday. Vernon's drill team left here Wednesday night on a special sleeper, twenty-four men strong. Those who made the trip were Jim Bonar, captain, Doc Norwood, Keith Berry, Frank Murchison, Joe Sumner, W. K. Long, Hobert Newsome, George Long, N. R. Hodge, Hub Colley, A. B. Swartwood, J. C. Levellen, I. S. Sewell, Earl Norwood, T. J. McGill, W. R. Holt of Harrold, S. E. Porterfield, Guy Packett, Seth Ingram, Tom Sumner, Everett Hancey, James McCrary, Claud Bennett and Moss Hampton.

Bodyguard For Hawkins

The Vernon drill team will serve as a bodyguard today for L. G. Hawkins, Grand Commander of the State, who left for Fort Worth Wednesday noon in company with Daniel Bond, marshal of the First Division for the meeting of the Grand Commandery which opened this noon. Upon his arrival in Fort Worth Mr. Hawkins was met by two brass bands, the drill team of Worth Commandery 19, and a number of Fort Worth commandery officials.

Both the De Molay band and the Masonic Home Band were lined upon the station platform with instruments poised when the Vernon knights alighted. Several numbers were played before the excited visitors were escorted to the official car and driven to their hotel.

After the Grand Commandery adjourns Saturday many of those in attendance will go to New Orleans for the triennial convocation of the United States Commandery which opens Monday. Mr. Hawkins will make the trip to the Louisiana metropolis.

PINK BOLL WORM SCARE EXPLODED BY FEDERAL BOARD

Houston Office Sends Word That Specimens Found Near Fargo Are Not Dread Cotton Destroyer—No Revelation Made Of Identity—Farmers And Merchants Gratified.

Specimens of a worm found this week on Wilbarger county cotton and forwarded to the Federal Horticulture Board at Houston are not the dread bollworm, according to advices wired yesterday to P. D. Chaney, farm agent. No information was contained in the word received here other than that allaying fears of local growers that county cotton might be made the object of an inroad from this relentless pest.

A peculiar type of worm was found Tuesday on the W. Johnson place near Fargo and was brought to the county agent for examination. Nearly ready to emerge into the moth stage, the worm was contained in cotton seed received from a district near an infested area in Ellis county. No knowledge was had of the identity of the specimens brought to town, and the Federal Horticulture Board at Houston was requested to send an expert to Vernon immediately. Samples were forwarded both to Houston and to A. and M. College.

Farmers Gratified

Farmers possessing seed received from Ellis county district were requested to suspend planting pending the determination of the identity of the worms. Much gratification is being expressed by farmers in town today and merchants everywhere over the message from Houston.

THOMAS DENOUNCES RULE OF NATURAL RESOURCES BY FEW

Candidate For United States Senate Believes Large Interests Should Be Curbed By Heavy Inheritance And Excess Profits Tax—Attacks Freight and Passenger Rates.

Denouncing the control of natural resources and the amassing of stupendous wealth by large corporate interests, and proposing that these things in American social and political life today be removed by the application of inheritance and excess profits taxes, Cullen Thomas, candidate for the United States Senate, spoke Wednesday night in the district court room before an audience of approximately 150 persons. Mr. Thomas was introduced by J. O. Rouse, who presided and Mr. Rouse was presented as the new chairman of the Wilbarger County Democratic Executive Committee at the beginning of the meeting by J. A. Robinson.

Mr. Thomas voiced in no uncertain terms his disapproval of what he characterized as the dictation of prices for what the American public buys, sells and consumes. He pointed out that about one per cent of the population owns as much wealth as the remaining ninety-nine per cent, and that two-thirds of the nation's natural resources are owned by two per cent of its people.

Praises Henry Ford

We have reached an age of billions, said the speaker. There has been an amassing of wealth in the hands of a few. Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, was lavishly praised by Mr. Thomas for the spirit he has consistently shown toward his employees and the public. The citation was given as a means of illustrating a commendable attitude from one of the nation's wealthiest men as an example to be followed by contemporaries.

The speaker rapped sharply the packing interests, or big five, for the struggle hold which he claims they have upon the livestock industry. They are in a position to fix prices, he told his audience, and as a consequence last year showed profits near $25,000,000.

Mr. Thomas deplored the candidacy of Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts for re-election to the United States Senate. He characterized Mr. Lodge as a bitter opponent to the interests of all real Americans.

Says Miners Oppressed

Coal mines of the country are in the hands of a few, said the Senatorial candidate. Striking miners are not being given even the right to work as owners are opposed to any kind of efforts in the mines in order to cause a coal shortage and a subsequent opportunity to profiteer at the expense of the public.

One man controls the steel industry of the United States, said Mr. Thomas, and sets the wages in this line of business. A church investigation conducted recently, he charged, reported that in certain steel industry centers working conditions were horrible, and twelve hour shifts were freely observed.

Wants Inheritance Tax.

The speaker proposed relief for the distressing conditions he outlined through the imposing of a heavy inheritance tax. The present law, he pointed out, provided that $500 must be paid on an inheritance of $50,000, and this Mr. Thomas deems an equitable adjustment. Above $50,000, however, he told those present, there should be a graduated scale that would cut liberally into the huge sums transmitted in this manner.

The candidate made clear the fact that he is making no fight on thrift or moneyed men, but on the trusts that seek to use the power that money furnishes in order to control the commodities used by the American public.

Denounces Railroad Rates

Prevailing freight and passenger rates Mr. Thomas denominated as highway robbery. The Interstate Commerce Commission, he impressed upon his audience, is responsible for excessive charges through permitting railroads to earn six per cent on invested capital. These investments as shown by the books, said Mr. Thomas, constituted about fifty per cent watered stock, and as a consequence excessive freight rates are imposing a bur-

FIDDLERS DELIGHT WITH PROGRAMS OF OLD TIME MELODIES

Audiences Pack Vernon Theater During Two Nights Performances For Bow Artists' Contests—Favorites Of Years Olden Days—Locals Win.

The first three places in the Old Fiddlers' Contest staged here Wednesday and Thursday at The Vernon Theater went to local bow artists who delighted the audiences with their quaint renditions of familiar melodies. A. C. (Eck) Robertson, with the renowned "Sally Goodin" took first money of $25, Tom Lee was second with "Lost Indian" and received $15, and Dr. A. P. Howard won third prize of $5 with a selection which he entitled, "If You Don't want the Milk To Sour Keep It In the Cow." Fourth prize was won by M. C. Mosely of Farmers Valley, who rendered the general favorite, "Arkansas Traveler."

Members of the audience constituted the judges. After hearing all selections in turn last night, the applause for each in the same order acclaimed the victor.

Post Enjoys Proceeds

Capacity houses were enjoyed both nights of the performances, and many of those in attendance came from far outlying districts. Proceeds of the event were turned over to the local post of the American Legion.

Hula Hula dancing and "buck and wing" steps featured the evenings' programs. Juvamento Okasaka of Oklahoma City alias Lloyd Parker of Vernon, delighted the audience with a rendition of the famous Hawaiian specialty, and Snow Ball, a talented local negro rickie toe artist pleased the on-lookers with his fancy steps. Solo dancing on the part of Snow Ball was brought about by the suffering of a sprained arm by his partner, "Tar Baby" who was thereby rendered incapacitated to "shake a foot."

Sooners Send Fiddlers

Oklahoma contributed its quota of fiddlers for the event with "Uncle Henry" Gilliland of Albus and W. P. Stafford of Tipton. Mr. Gilliland, who has appeared here before and composed one of the quartette that played before the governor of Tennessee during the last Confederate reunion, played his prize piece, "Texas Two Step." Mr. Stafford entertained the audience with a personal selection.

Lewis Franklyn of Vernon, left handed bow wielder, gave as his selection, "Wagner" with variations. The tune is one often whistled by cowboys of Texas. "Babe" Barker of Goodnight played exceptionally well. "Mr. Rabbit, What's Your Mammy?"

Trick Performances

Louis Kahl of Vernon delighted with two accordion solos, and L. D. Bull, also a local musician, took the part of a black face comedian and showed wonderful talent in accompanying all the fiddlers in turn. Dr. A. P. Howard and "Eck" Robertson brought much applause with trick fiddling and Henry Samuels of Vernon accompanied most of the selections on his cello.

NEW WELL SPUN IN WITH LITTLE CEREMONY

With little ceremony, the Dickey-Bell Oil Co. of Frederick, Okla., spudded in Tuesday afternoon on its location a mile and a half southeast of Fargo. Operators experienced a shortage of water soon after starting but relieved the situation by sinking a well sixty feet that provided water in abundance.

Steady progress has been made with a rotary rig, and operators expect to reach the contract depth, 2,250 feet in short order. C. E. Reilly is contracting driller for the concern, and the night driller is Will Glinger.

Other musicians who participated in the contest were L. Copeland and G. G. Stevenson of Memphis, Sam Houston of Chillicothe and M. R. Sipe and J. Pace of Alvord.

WOMAN KNOWS NO RESTRICTED SPHERE SAYS MISS BLANTON

Believes Service To Humanity Is Guiding Factor In Consideration Of Candidates For Public Office—Reviews Trials Of State Superintendent—Favors Soldier Bonus.

"There is no certain work for woman, there can be prescribed no sphere for her activities. Service to humanity is after all the only thing that counts."

The words uttered by a speaker who stood resolutely facing her audience on a chair in the district court room, formed part of the ringing message given Wilbarger county voters last night by Miss Annie Webb Blanton, State Superintendent of education and candidate for Congress. Miss Blanton is seeking to fill the unexpired term of Lucian W. Parrish as well as the nomination at the Democratic primaries next July.

Dohoney Introduces

E. L. Dohoney, superintendent of Vernon schools and formerly associated with Miss Blanton in educational work, introduced the speaker. Mr. Dohoney reviewed her record as State Superintendent and spoke briefly of the efforts of Miss Blanton which has resulted in incalculable benefit to the schools. The court room was well filled throughout the hour and a half during which the candidate spoke.

The major part of Miss Blanton's address dealt with her work as State superintendent of schools, and she cited instance after instance to illustrate the resourcefulness and diplomacy she has been called upon to exercise in this important position. Much of her talk, too, dealt with woman's activity in public life.

Cites Woman's Struggles

Public service for women is unusual but not without precedence, said the speaker. Numbers of women prominent in affairs of government, both at home and abroad, were then cited to prove the point. Miss Blanton reviewed the struggles of women through many years to gain equal privileges with men in education and suffrage, and gave a brief resume of her own life to illustrate the heart rending trials she successfully overcame to win herself a place in public life.

"It is not a question of main strength in Congress," said the figure standing on the chair, "but merely of education, common sense and energy. A woman's view point is needed in Congress, and I believe that she would bring a freshness of views that would be of decided value."

Praises Dohoney

Commenting upon the problems she faced upon entering the office of State superintendent, Miss Blanton paid a high tribute to E. L. Dohoney, formerly first assistant State superintendent, for the aid which he rendered her while in office.

The candidate emphasized the fact that the biggest thing in life is to rear fine children who will in turn create the highest type of citizenship. She dwelt upon the rank of Texas in education, thirty-ninth, and pointed out the shortcomings that have attributed to this low grading.

Country Schools Problem

Rural schools constitute the greatest problem in Texas today, said Miss Blanton, because the State is sixty eight per cent rural. Five hundred new schoolhouses were built throughout Texas last year, she said, and during her administration apportionments for country institutions have been doubled.

In refuting the arguments of her opponents that women are unable to cope with men, Miss Blanton cited numerous examples of legislation she has sponsored in the State Legislature. During her administration, she pointed out, double the number of bills ever before introduced into the Legislature have found their way before the lawmakers.

Trials In Office

Fights against fraudulent census, fraudulent teachers' certificates and other existing evils of school administration have formed a large part of her duties, Miss Blanton told those present. In all of these she has been made the center of bitter attacks which she has weathered successfully in her determination to convince the people that the law is being enforced. Discussing briefly her stand on cer-

BRIDE OF FEW WEEKS IS TENDERED BEAUTIFUL SHOWER

Gorgeous showers of pink and white carnations, drifts of fragrant spring blossoms and beautifully decorated rooms greeted Mrs. E. L. McCarter, bride of a few weeks, as she entered the front door Thursday afternoon at 4:30 of the J. L. Swartwood home on W. Texas street. Mrs. McCarter, formerly Miss Juanita Youngblood of this city, was the recipient of a miscellaneous shower given her by the Monday and Tuesday Bridge Clubs, both of which she is a member. The affair was one of the most attractive staged in Vernon in weeks.

The guest of honor was ushered to a throne prepared under a canopy of flowers, and there held court during entertainment provided by her hostesses. There was a delightful musical program consisting of a piano solo by Miss Vera Harrington, a similar selection by Mrs. Harry Colley, and a vocal solo by Mrs. E. C. Christian. Following this was a novel guessing contest presided over by Mrs. S. S. Minger, Mrs. Everett Haney, and Mrs. O. O. McCarty in which the most successful contestant was presented with a hand made handkerchief as a favor.

Mrs. McCarter was then showered with linen, after which she was ushered into the sun room to receive her remaining gifts. These consisted of many beautiful and useful articles for household use. Refreshments consisting of pink and white brick ice cream, angel food cake, and iced nuts contained in dainty pink and white baskets were served.

About 125 guests were asked for 4 o'clock, and were met at the door by Miss Esther Swartwood and Miss Oleta Youngblood. They were escorted to the dining room and served with punch from a huge bowl surrounded by banks of blossoms. Mrs. Clint Swartwood, Mrs. George Hardin, Miss Bob Standifer and Miss Mary Anderson presided here. Guests were then ushered to the living room by Mrs. Joe Parker, Miss Harriett Thomas and Miss Johnny Malloy. The Victrola was presided over by Miss Adell Sumner and Miss Don Standifer. The bride arrived a half hour after the guests were received.

ENDORSED BY SOLDIER WHO FOUND LOST BATTALION

Gilbert Williams, of Decatur, candidate for Congress, who will speak in Vernon Monday afternoon. Mr. Williams has been lauded by Woodville Rogers, State senator from the fifth district, as follows:

Hon. T. J. Murray,

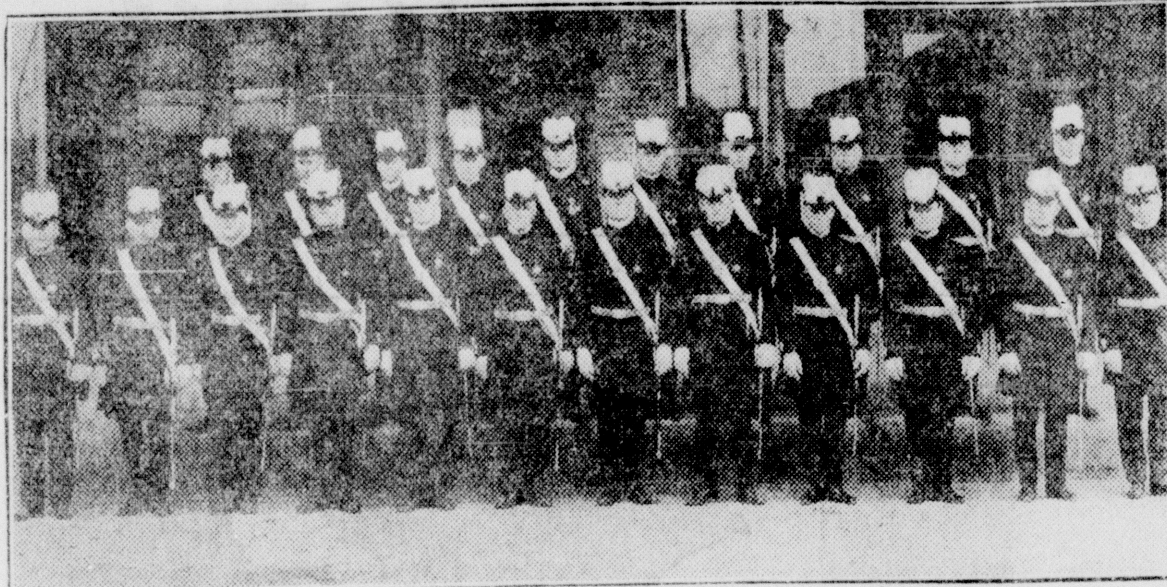

Decatur, Texas,

Dear Sir: I am intensely interested in the candidacy of Senator Williams for Congress. I had the pleasure of serving with him throughout the session of the 37th Legislature in the State Senate. It was my pleasure to direct some of the legislation in behalf of the disabled ex-service men of Texas, chief among which legislation was the building of the American Memorial Hospital at Kerrville. In this we had legal co-operation and able assistance of Senator Williams. He was one of the best friends the ex-service men had in the Texas Senate.

He was always boldly taking issue in behalf of the people. He stood four square for sound business principles in the administration of government. His work and his votes in the interest of economy and decency, especially with reference to the penitentiary system of the State, will live as a monument to his name in Texas history.

He was always a Christian gentleman, a faithful friend and an able senator. He has a heart of pure gold, and every pulse beat was an intense yearning for the interests of his people. We need him in Congress. The ex-service men need him. May we have

LOSE THIRD PLACE BY BAREST MARGIN.

Drill team representing Vernon Commandery 33 which scored 84 out of a possible 100 points in Fort Worth Thursday afternoon against seven other groups representing the largest cities in Texas. Reading from left to right, front row—Jim Bonar, captain, Dee Norwood, Keith Berry, W. H. Holt of Harrold, A. B. Swartwood, Hub Colley, S. E. Porterfield, N. B. Hodge, James Metcalf, Guy Puckett, W. K. Long and Herbert Newsome. Second row—Joe Sumner, Frank Murchison, J. C. Lovell, T. J. McGill, Tom Sumner, L. S. Sewell, Early Norwood, J. G. McArthur, Everett Haney and George Long.

PARK IS WEARING NEW GARB—BECKONS ALL TO COME AND SEE

Allingham Park is wearing its new spring dress today of white and gold with green trimmings. It resembles for all the world a pretty school girl of 16 in her new garb, beckoning all who love the beautiful out of doors to come and see her.

The vines are starting on their summer's journey over the pergola. Lilies have spread their green leaves over the pool in which the gold fish flash and sport in the warm spring sunshine. Flowers are peeping out of grass that is as green as was ever the song famed Emerald Isle.

From the myriad blossoms of locust trees there steals a fragrance that quickens the blood with the beautiful season's message it carries. The golden and white blossoms hang everywhere, filling the air with their perfume. Beneath the trees the benches invite one to linger and dream awhile, forgetting the cares of the more sordid world to revel in a paradise provided by Nature.

Nights Hold Charm

At night the many lights that soften the scene make of the park a fairyland. Through the swaying leaves there is formed a huge checkerboard and on moonlit nights the scene is bathed in a soft radiance that seems to warm with its glow.

Years ago in this park stood the home of Vernon's first club founder, Mrs. G. A. Brown, now of Oklahoma.

The plot of ground faces Yamparka street which bears the name of the first club founded by Mrs. Brown. Several years ago members of the Home Science Club, by staging plays, tag days, and other means of raising money furnished funds with which to purchase the park.

C. A. Allingham, who lives just across the street from the park, assisted club women so generously with donations and encouragement during their efforts to provide the city with a recreation spot, that out of gratitude the ground was named in his honor.

Defies Patterning

Only a few acres, there are, and lacking, perhaps in many essentials of metropolitan playgrounds. But in the soft carpet of grass, in the grove of blossom laden trees, and in the warm, scented air that charms with its fragrance, Vernon is possessed of attributes which only nature can provide, and which defy in emulation the greatest of man's contributions to the attractiveness of all out of doors.

WITH THE WILBARGER COUNTY PURE BRED LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION

(By JED MORROW, Secretary)

These columns are made possible through the courtesy and generosity of The Vernon Record who offered space to our association for news notes, educational items, timely hints, market quotations and other matters of interest to the breeders. The entire membership of our association is not only invited but requested to send me any items for this column.

Inquiries concerning Wilbarger county livestock sales are reaching us steadily. Four requests for hogs none have been received, and to date 172 animals are wanted.

Rabbit meat is fine for chickens. Many successful poultry keepers skin the rabbits, take out the entrails, and either chop the meat up fine with a hatchet, or hang the rabbit up where the chickens can pick the meat off. Growing and laying chickens do better when they have meat. It supplies protein and vitamins.

The farmer who provides pasture for his hogs whenever possible is the one who makes the production of pork most profitable. Alfalfa is perhaps the best of all green forage for hogs. Sufficient acreage should be allowed so that at least one, and preferably two, cuttings may be made each season. In a field with a good stand and on very good soil, from 500 to 800 pounds of hogs or one brood sow and litter can be pastured per acre and the usual crop of hay harvested. It is difficult to retain a stand when the plan is followed of pasturing closely enough an increase of his tribe at the National Capitol.

Yours very truly,

WOODVILLE ROGERS,
State Senator, 5th Dist.

Woodville Rogers is the man who, while serving the colors in France, located the lost battalion in the Argonne Forest.

den upon merchants and farmers alike.

The Senatorial candidate deplored the ever increasing expenses of the Federal Government which he claimed now amount to approximately five billions a year. In his criticism he pointed out numerous specific instances which he characterized as gross extravagance. He dwelt at length on the enormous debt of the nation, and offered as a means of contracting in part this burden the imposing of inheritance taxes and a restoration of the excess profits tax.

"Make the big corporations pay part of this debt," said Mr. Thomas. "A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, is one of the wealthiest men in the country and he is working over time in an effort to devise means of relieving men of capital in the East from excess profits taxes on their huge incomes."

Attacks High Tariff

The candidate attacked a high protective tariff on the grounds that protection is confined to big manufacturers and financial interests. He took issue with those who believe that the last tariff bill, providing a thirty-five cent rate on wheat and twenty cent tariff on corn is beneficial to the farming interests. The prices on the commodities, he said, have been declining since the tariff was imposed.

Foreign nations, the speaker pointed out, are heavily indebted to the United States and can only meet their obligations through shipping their products here. Mr. Thomas expressed himself as opposed to a tax on wine and beer.

Answers Questions

At the close of his address the candidate invited questions from the audience, and when queried on his views concerning immigration replied that he favors stringent laws checking an influx of foreign population until this nation can naturalize and assimilate the foreign population now within our boundaries. Regarding the Ku Klux Klan, the candidate stated that he is not a member of the organization and has never been on its roster but that he approves of most of the principles advocated by the invisible empire.

Mr. Thomas voiced the opinion that some of the best men of the State and in each community are members of the Klan. He expressed opposition to the lash, tar buckets and disguise, and believes Klan members should not refuse to testify before courts of inquiry.

The final question put to the candidate related to the League of Nations. Mr. Thomas deplored the failure of this nation to include itself in the membership of the League, and expressed the belief that America should yet be represented.

Little Jack was asked to learn a verse for the coming Sunday for his Sunday school class. During the week the father taught him: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

When Sunday came Jack was told to stand and repeat his verse. He rose, but with this statement: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I've got all I want."

"Don't they look sweet?" asked the young lady teacher with a wave of her hand toward the infant class.
"There are twenty-seven of them and you will notice they are all about the same size."

"Yes," said one of the visitors, a poultry man, "they look as if they might have been hatched in an incubator."

THE PUBLISHERS' CASE

No country can live and grow without information highways. For this reason the Government has always recognized the necessity for low postal rates on newspapers and periodicals.
During the war, however, publications of this country were loaded with increases on the carrying charges in the mails. These increases were provided for in the Revenue Bill of 1917 and now amount to four times the pre-war charges.

While paying this special tax, the publishers have been paying as well
all other taxes levied upon industry
as a whole, and have had to contend with and are still bearing high prices
for labor, paper and other essentials.
It is significant, too, that this special tax on the circulation of publications
is a tax on a process of the industry.

It is a recognized principle of taxation that taxes should be levied on the products of industry and not on the processes. The case is not dissimilar to taxation of traveling salesmen or labor saving machinery. Every interchange of commodities must be preceded by an interchange on ideas,
of information, of proposals, and acceptances, and this important function of our publications needs support and encouragement at this time to build up and restore national prosperity.

The idea of taxing schools would be abhorred, and yet but seven percent of our boys and girls go beyond grammar grades. The rest of their education must come from reading. The present law is in effect a tax on this source of education which is depended upon by ninety-three per cent of the people to take the place of higher education.

As a result of these exorbitant postal charges, publishers have been forced to increase subscription rates greatly. In 1918 the Federal Government collected from the publishers $11,712,068.18, and in the last fiscal year this had grown to $25,496,719.94.
During the current year it is estimated that the publishers will pay to the Government for carrying their papers the huge sum of $33,000,000.

The burden falls heaviest upon the smaller papers of the country. Large publications, with a million or more readers, can afford to develop their own systems of transportation.

Publishers are asking for a repeal of the last two increases which went into effect in 1920 and 1921, or about $8,000,000 as against total post office receipts of about $500,000,000. The Government would still receive approximately 175 per cent more than under pre-war rates. The effect of lowering the rates would attract back into the mails enough tonnage to largely compensate for the apparent or bookkeeping loss.

VERNON AND ITS TREES

Vernon is today enjoying its handsomest garb of the year. At no other season is the town so attractive in appearance as at present. With hundreds of locust trees in full bloom, with streets and alleys swept clean through the efforts of a recent cleanup campaign, the community is decidedly looking its best.

"The most beautiful town on the Denver" is the designation often affixed to Vernon. To many the name of the community has become synonymous with green grass, flowers, wide spreading trees and well kept lawns.

A series of Indian stories, dealing with the exploits of forty-eight great redskins of history, has been contracted for by The Record and the first of these will appear in an early issue.
They are written by Elmo Scott Watson, a writer of merit, who has spent years in studying Indian history and customs. Thirty different tribes are represented and forty different states are in some way connected with the stories.

These forty-eight Indians were connected with at least twenty-four separate and distinct wars, outbreaks or other forms of hostility. The series covers exactly 300 years of American history. The Indian in the first story was waging war on the Virginia colonists in 1622 and the one in the last story is alive
in this year of our Lord 1922.

The average school history rarely mentions more than a dozen Indians by name and any one of them receives scarcely more than two or three lines mention. These stories are about men who probably rate as high collectively as any forty-eight Americans picked from a Who's Who and a national Bogue's Gallery. The series represents twenty years of reading and study of Indian history by the author. It is as accurate as written records and tribal lore can make it. It is a fascinating contribution to a thrilling subject.

SPRING'S MESSAGE.

Just a mere breath of Spring, but it found its glad way
To a room through a window wide;
It watched as men toiled with hammer and sledge
And presently to itself sighed:

"How gladly I'd call from this work bench and that
The one who is laboring there,
And carry him out to the green fields and woods
For draughts of God's life giving air.

"I would point out the pools where fishes disport
And show where the wild game is found,
"Oh, I'd mock in my throat each gay birdling's note Till it echoed the woodland around."

So it stole here and there, this slight envoy of Spring,
As it kissed the cheeks grizzled and seamed,
And at each caress there was panning of sledge
While shop worn heart fondly dreamed.

So a vision of woods, of green pastures and pools,
And shrill trilling notes that birds sing,
Burst into the depths of a room where men toiled
Through the touch of a mere breath of Spring.

—E. G. S.

POLAND KEEPS GREAT ARMY FEARING RUSSIAN INVASION

By Marshall Pilsudski

(Famous Polish Soldier, and War Lord of the Baltic, Now President of Poland)Warsaw, Poland, April 20.—Should Russia declare war, her success would depend upon immediate victory. That is why we do not fear Russia.Russia has the largest army in the world—has, in fact, two armies—the Tcheka, or privileged army, and the Red army, or army of proletariat.The first is occupied chiefly with domestic policing. It is the second with which the world may one day have to reckon.Poland is in the path of Russia to the west. Our future, our fate depend upon a thorough knowledge of Russia, its army and its government.
After constant study I can state as the chief of the Polish republic that we do not fear a planned, concerted war by all the Russians.What we fear—what we should be foolish not to fear—is a spontaneous invasion of hordes, ill-armed and il-disciplined, but driven onward by the spur of famine and pestilence, which would by the very weight of their numbers overrun a large area of the country before they could be stopped.There are in Russia today several million men under arms, about a million of whom are, or have been properly trained in modern warfare. They possess arms and ammunition, but are short on long range cannon, aircraft and chemicals. They are fit to wage guerilla warfare, providing the country they wage it in is sufficiently rich to support them. This is not the case with Eastern Poland.It is incredible to my mind that Russia, her previous failure before her as an example, would risk her destiny
on a new invasion of the Western half of Europe. But if she should, her sole chance of victory would be the successes of a quick dash carrying her to the prosperous agricultural districts and the large manufacturing areas of Western Poland and Czecho-Slovakia. Once strongly entrenched there, with the means of keeping her commissary filled and her guns supplied, she would undoubtedly become a serious menace to the world.The only way such a rush could be stopped is by the concentration of a sufficiently large army in Poland.
That is why we have thought it wise to retain an army of 500,000 which at first glance seems wholly disproportionate to our size and our finances.The Polish soldier stands between Europe and the next war.Avery Page of Chillicothe is in Vernon today on business and attending the bedside of his son, who is in a local hospital.

tain questions, Miss Blanton asserted that she is in sympathy with a soldier bonus. The boys who fought, she declared did not count the cost when they went to war, and it behooves the American public to show them that it will not count the cost now.

Upholds Labor Unions

Miss Blanton declared herself inalterably opposed to a tariff other than for revenue only. Duties on raw material, she said should furnish the bulk of income. Labor unions were sanctioned by the candidate who stated that she believes they provide the only means of gaining justice for the laboring man. The candidate scored any attempt of such organizations, however, to dictate to their members in voting or conduct of private life.

Anti-prohibitionists, said Miss Blanton, are instituting propaganda that will divide the people of this nation. In the event it is successful, The Volstead law should be stricter, she declared, and a jail sentence should be added to the fines imposed for violations. The speaker declared herself against light wines and beer.

Wants Rates Adjusted

An adjustment of freight rates is one of the greatest needs of the country today, the candidate asserted. Supervision over rates, she informed her audience, would again be exercised by the railroad commission.

Miss Blanton expressed her belief that apportionments for the army and navy should be cut as much as could be consistently possible. She voiced her disapproval of further encroachments on the part of the Federal Government upon the rights of the states.

Speaks Of Klan

Touching upon the Ku Klux Klan, Miss Blanton stated that she does not believe in a visible and an invisible empire. Conditions exist, however, she said, that brought the Klan into existence, and she expressed the belief that the organization would cease to exist when those conditions were eliminated. Some of the best men in Texas, said the speaker, she believes to be members of the Klan.

Miss Blanton spoke for fifteen minutes in defense of her brother, Congressman Thomas Blanton, who during the past year was the subject of several bitter attacks in Congress. She emphasized the fact that she is in no way depending upon her relationship as a means of gaining office, but pointed out the reasons for the charges made against Mr. Blanton.

Miss Blanton left today for Wichita Falls. Upon her arrival in Vernon yesterday afternoon she attended the bridal shower tendered Mrs. E. L. McCarter at the home of J. L. Swartwood on W. Texas street. Miss Blanton is a woman of medium build, apparently about 55 years old, and is an entertaining speaker.

FOSTER'S WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Week centering on April 23 will bring generally good crop weather to the continent. No important weather events nor extreme temperatures are expected. Rainfall and temperatures will be near the normal. Good and improving crop weather are expected conditions for the continent as a general average.

The great high temperature wave, heretofore mentioned, will be important as it will force the crops at a time when warm weather will be needed. It will be on meridian 90 near April 30. All above conditions will drift eastward across the continent in about four days and the first days of May will bring excellent prospects for the crops of 1922.

First high temperature wave for May will be on Meridian 90, east of Manitoba, near May 7; at St. Louis near May 8; north of New Orleans near May 3. These will drift eastward and northeastward into the Alleghany mountains and the sections north of them in one or two days and into eastern sections in two or three days, all of them passing down the St. Lawrence Valley. These warm waves will be in the Rockies, east of the place mentioned one day and on Pacific slope two days before reaching meridian 90. The storm waves will follow one day and the cool wave two days behind warm waves.

Rains will be near normal for first twelve days of May with most severe storms and most rain during the week centering on May 9. The moisture for these rains will come from southward, from the Gulf of Mexico and if you are located between the gulf and high lands north or northeast of you, rains will be greater than indicated for your location. But if high lands are between you and the gulf you will get less rain than indicated.

We Know The Truth About

COFFEE

We marvel at our old superstitions. It is hard to believe now that more than 30,000 women have been condemned as witches!

Frenzy and prejudice mark the development of progress in many directions. Even coffee—the most popular and beneficial of all beverages—has not wholly escaped.

Despite the fact that food faddists and temperamental extremists have assailed coffee, it has become the universal drink of this great level-headed nation.

There can be no question about the soothing, nourishing, invigorating effects of good, pure coffee. It lightens fatigue, sustains energy and aids digestion.

Significant—"The American Housekeeper" says: "Coffee is of great value. It is one of the best aids to the ailing. Coffee is stimulating but not depressing."
